FUNERAL OF THE LATE UPTON REILEY We extract the following from a letter re-ceived by Mr. John Bailie from J. KcK. Reiley, ir., who accompanied Dr. and Mrs. Reiley to Baltimore with the remains of their son Upton. The letter is dated March 1: March 1:

"We arrived here safe and sound, and found a great many kind friends at the depot to meet us; also, many kind and sympathizing friends at the house, to do all in their power.
"The funeral of Upton took place from his father's residence, 99 Mulberry street, Baltimore, Thursday, February 20, at 3 r. v.
Though the notice was short, many friends were present. Rev. Wm. T. Edwards conducted the exercises. Mr. and Mrs Reiley and family have the heartfelt sympathy of our people here as well as in Wheeling, in this their time of sorrow. Many tokens of sympathy, in the shape of choice flowers, were offered (a harp requiring special mention), with the loving sympathy of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union—"For one who went with light of song."

"For one who went with lips of song.
To where the strain the saints prolong,
We do not weep, safe, safe and blest,
The early-crowned has won God's rest,"

"Mr. and Mrs. Reiley and family wish to thank one and all for their kindness in their late sorrow."

THE WILLIAMSONS AND "STRUCK OIL." THE WILLIAMSONS AND "STRUCK OIL."—
The well known "Williamsons," Muggie Moore and J. C. Williamson, who have achieved a decided reputation, both in this country and in Great Britain and Australia, appeared last night in the Opera House before a large audience, though not near so large as the one with which they were greeted upon their first appearance in Wheeling, nor so large as the merits of the performance really deserved.

"Struck Oil," although dealing with a simple story, affords an opportunity for the display of some very fine acting on the part of the two principal characters, and shows not only their versatility as comedians, but also their ability to rise above the ans, but also their ability to rise above the ordinary range of dramatic experience and illustrate true feeling and pathos. John illustrate true feeling and pathos. John Stofel, a representative Pennsylvania Dutchman, is the character assumed by Mr. Williamson, and the interest of the drama contres round his fortunes. Mr. Williamson's dialect is perfect, his makenp artistic, and his assumption of the character shows not only that he has bestowed earnest study upon it, but also that keen perception has been brought to bear in order to make it life-like, natural and effective.

As I fizzie Stofel Mrs. Williamson (new Maggie Moore) deservedly shared the honors with her husband. She is an easygoing, graceful, natural actress. It is a fact well established by unquestionable testimony that Hall's Hair Renewer renews, cleanses, brightens, invigorates and restores to its original color and lustre, faded gray or discolored hair, cheaply, quickly and surrely. The poorest people prefer to buy it and use it, rather than to proclaim in a manner more foreible than words can delineate, through blanched locks or grizzly beard, that it ey are aged and passing to decay. WE are surprised to see so many still suffering with neuralgia and Rhenmatism, when they can be cured. We know the feeling which exists among very many—"that any medicine which is salvertised must be a humbug." This may be true in some cases, but when we know of a remedy which has become so popular as Lawson's Curative, and we have such conclusive evidence of the good it has accomplished, it is more than folly not to make a trial of it, and satisfy yourselves that all the proprietors claim for it is true. In such diseases as Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Headache, Sore Throat, Lame lack, and diseases as Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Scialicr Headache, Sore Throat, Lame Back, am Toothache, we can safely say that no remely either in physician's prescription or in proper cary form, has effected more cures than Law son's Curative.
